

Press release
For immediate release

The world trip continues this weekend at Parc Jean-Drapeau!

Montréal, Thursday July 15, 2010 – Les Week-ends du Monde, a free event enabling the population to tour the world and discover the cultures and traditions of 30 Montreal cultural communities, continues this weekend – July 17-18 – at Parc Jean-Drapeau. The public is again invited to enjoy the music, dance and traditional cuisine of a host of communities of diverse origins.

« Last weekend, close to 50,000 people were on hand to indulge in the Week-ends du Monde experience,» remarked Parc Jean-Drapeau spokesperson Nathalie Lessard. “This weekend promises to be just as exciting, with daily performances on the three large main stages and on the five surrounding stages.”

The Rhythm of my Culture!

Here are the main festivals and celebrations planned for this weekend:

- Montreal Cuban Festival;
- Québec Turkish Festival
- The first Festival Viva Mexico de Montréal;
- Fêtes Créoles Internationales de Montréal;
- Colombia national holiday.

Les Week-ends du Monde at Parc Jean-Drapeau is presented by Loto-Québec, in collaboration with the Société du patrimoine d’expression du Québec (SPEQ), Labatt and La Caravane glacée. For all of the details about Les Week-ends du Monde and on the other events and attractions, you are invited to go to the Parc Jean-Drapeau website at Uwww.parcjeandrapeau.com.

- 30 -

ACCESS AND PARKING

Getting there: By subway, Jean-Drapeau station
By car: Jacques-Cartier Bridge or de la Concorde Bridge via the Bonaventure Autoroute.

Reserved media parking: The P-11 parking area on île Ste-Hélène near the Biosphere; media parking spots have been reserved here; follow the signs to this effect.

